>and the Soundtrack to "The Crow: Love Past Death" (RC MusicSound Garden Entertainment 1998)

> One is for the darkness

> that takes away a soul Two is for the joy

> it turns the dark into gold Three is for a life, so tender and so pure

> Four is for the love All which you know for sure

> Five is for gifts of silver and gold Six for the secrets that you never have told

> Seven for the sorrow you keep to yourself This murder of crows brings down to this hell

> See how they fly my love, Dark winged angels cry above

> "Nothing here is left for me."

Will it matter if I come back for you?

> Or will you come back for me? Will you remember the joy in your life (that we shared)

> Before I go away?

I will remember you,

> I will be back soon, Never cry a tear for me love.

> Always know that I'm watching from above.

See how they fly my love,

> Dark wings on angels flying above They've come to spirit me away.

> The dark clouds are closing in, I'm watching for life to end.

> I know I'll be back again. Nothing ever goes unbroken.

Notes from Carl: This song was written in 1996 or earlier by a girl that I knew and spent some time with. She helped me with a lot of things and got my life started on a straighter track. Love you Alicia, without you, this song wouldn't be on the disc. See you on the Echoside.

> <dd> I had fiddled around with it for a couple of months trying to figure out how to play it on an instrument. Little did I know how much musical talent I didn't have. So I let it sit for a little while. Then in 1998 I picked it up again and threw it by a person that I was working with on my bands first cd, which happens to be this one...

> <dd> Thanks to: Justin Krumweide for being there when the chips were down. The cast and crew of Love Past Death (You guys made a dream come true). Tucker for the insightful advice ("Get the hell up you lazy ass cracker!"). Lisa, Chumley, Crissy, Sally, Kirby, Flounder, Mookie, Anna D, Jay Cumbie, Robert Goodman and the rest of the crew at Planet Radio 93.3 for supplying me with music that inspired and tired me. Daniella for being an awesome friend. The Nutz at SJRCC in Palatka Florida, HuggleNutz, SmokieNutz, StokieNutz, StoogeNutz, FuzzyNuts and lastly,

More-Queer-Than-A-Three-Dollar-Bill-With-Purple-Polka-dotz-Y'allzNutz.
